CAREER SUMMARY

First Stream Teaching

As a Senior Fellow of Advance Higher Education and qualified teacher, my contribution to the enrichment of student learning has been significant. Strategically, I have led both internationally and domestically in the design and validation of a series of market led post graduate and undergraduate programmes. Operationally, my passion for teaching has nurtured innovative modules and provided a pedagogical forum that facilitates students' learning exposure and commercial insights via the integration of research activities and business interchange across the curriculum. My passion for teaching and research informed content has resulted in continued funded invitations to deliver lectures, symposiums and seminars globally. My ability to lead and effectively mentor fellow academics in creative teaching styles and assessment methods has directly resulted in numerous 'UK Best Student Awards'.

Second Stream Research

My research footprint is current and specifically focuses on cultural compliance in the food sector. Strategically, I am an active participant on University and Faculty research committees ensuring our doctoral programmes are compliant and student conferment is based on thorough deliberation and due process. Operationally, I lead the University Research Friday Forums and deliver doctoral training events to reinforce student learning, to ensure doctoral connectivity across faculties and the organic reinforcement of our doctoral learning culture. In addition, I am an active chair and internal panel member for doctoral viva's and annual monitoring reviews. My track record of completions both as Director of Studies and Co-Supervisor is clearly evidenced. Externally, my publications have received over 500 downloads and are being internationally cited. My funded research investigations and submissions on 'Food Culture Compliance' will continue to further fuel keynote invitations. I am also an active doctoral external examiner, academic reviewer of several international journals and currently employed as External Examiner for the University of West London and former with the University of Chester and Staffordshire University Doctoral programmes. In addition, I am also a Visiting Professor at the Sias Academy for Open Innovation at Sias International University in China and at the Technological University of Panama and Senior Research Fellow at the Cyprus Business School, Cyprus.

Third Stream External Engagement

Championed as a 'University expert' I am an active supporter of third stream activities; its contribution to both teaching and research is firmly evidenced throughout my academic career. I am a certified 'International Lead Auditor in Total Quality Management, Health & Safety and & Environmental Global Standards' and a practicing consultant in 'Cultural Compliance'. As founder of the Faculty Business Clinic, my tangible contribution to commercial strategic realignment and operational solutions has generation in excess of £500K and provided rich learning and research opportunities in terms of live case studies, student employability and impact case studies in the high risk food manufacturing sector.

Directly, my commercial skills in acting as a lead consultant or co-investigator have also been utilised to enhance the Universities' reputation in terms of food cultural compliance, funded grants or fee paying business support and promotional videos. I mentor colleagues in the sourcing and conversion of business opportunities for both research outputs and to integrate the commercial realities and career opportunities across the University's Faculties and diverse and evolving curricula.
